QC14 Mental Health Assessment

The two day course provides clinicians working with people experiencing mental illness with the core knowledge and skills required to undertake a comprehensive mental health assessment including individualised treatment and care planning.

Underlying principles and processes of recovery, family engagement, strengths and collaboration are explored along with the content of a mental health assessment. This includes current situation, history, mental state examination, physical health, substance use screen, risk screen, formulation and management planning. Clinicians will also learn about capacity in adults in relation to consent for mental health assessment.

This course provides clinicians with the skills and knowledge to apply informed professional judgement for broader awareness of a presentation and how to ensure a comprehensive mental health assessment is undertaken which includes historical as well as current and contextual information.

The course includes activities to provide participants practice in analysing assessments and writing formulations.

It is highly recommended that participants also attend QC23 Forming the Therapeutic Alliance and QC24 Working with Strengths in Recovery to provide a foundation to their learning or further build upon their clinical tool kit when working with consumers.

Note: The course includes a formal assessment that is to be completed by the participants on day 1 and day 2. The assessment commences at approximately 2.30pm each day.

Testimonials:

“This course helped me to consolidate many fragmented skills I had developed ‘on the job’. The group discussion amongst a diverse range of clinicians enhanced the learning significantly.”

Mental Health Nurse

“As a new grad I feel this training has increased my understanding significantly. The program has reminded me of the importance of the consumer perspective in every step of the process. The Learning Centre trainer has massively increased my passion for working in mental health.”
