

1

Queensland Health and the Learning Centre acknowledge the Traditional Owners and Custodians of the land, waters and seas, and pay our respects to Elders past, present and future. We recognise the historical and ongoing impacts of colonisation including the dismantling of culture and heritage, extinguishment of language, dislocation from Country and deliberate separation of families and communities. We acknowledge the social, emotional, and physical consequences for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities continue to demonstrate resilience and strength, and generously share their culture and traditions.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples are advised that this publication may contain the names and/or images of deceased people.

'Making Tracks' artwork produced for Queensland Health by Gilimbaa.

Queensland Health 2010: Making Tracks towards closing the gap in health outcomes for Indigenous Queenslanders by 2033 – Policy and accountability Framework Brisbane 2010; Qld Government, Making Tracks Artwork and Protocols.

QC8 Supervisee 2

2

We recognise the lived-experience of those with a mental health condition, those impacted by suicide or substance use, and the contribution families, friends, carers and staff make to their recovery.

Queensland Health is committed to ensuring every child and young person is seen, heard, and feels safe by creating inclusive environments where their voices are valued, their needs are understood, and their safety is everyone's responsibility.

3

Housekeeping and online etiquette

Mute when not speaking

Facilitator screen sharing

Use of the chat room

Attendance record

Mobile phones to silent

CPD hours/certificate

Breaks: 10-15 minutes

Technical troubleshooting

Course QC8 Supervisee

4

4

Resources

Queensland Health Supervision
Guidelines

Professional Practice Frameworks

Learning Centre Supervision
Resource Hub

Reflective journal to guide your supervision

QC8 Supervisee

5

5

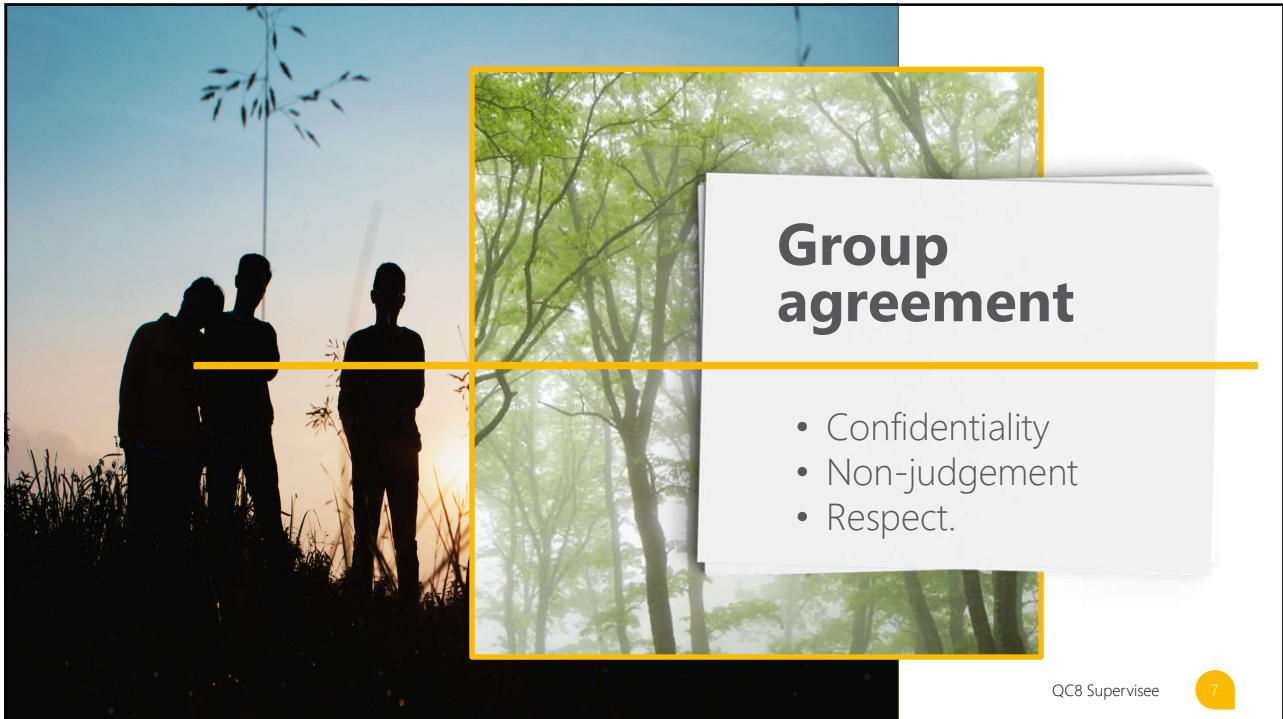

Program

Time	Content
First half	Welcome, introductions
	Review 5 stages of supervision
	Assessment and agreement: Review from the elearning
	Engagement: Deciding what to bring to sessions
Break	15 minutes
Second half	Using Gibbs' reflective learning cycle in supervision
	How to prepare to give and receive feedback
	Evaluation: Using evaluation tools to monitor the SWA and progress toward goals
	Ending: Using evaluation to support learning at the end and signpost where to begin a new supervision arrangement.
	Summary and close

QC8 Supervisee

6

6

Group agreement

- Confidentiality
- Non-judgement
- Respect.

QC8 Supervisee 7

7

What is supervision?

Professional practice frameworks

The Guidelines offer definitions to help us understand its purpose.

QC8 Supervisee 8

8

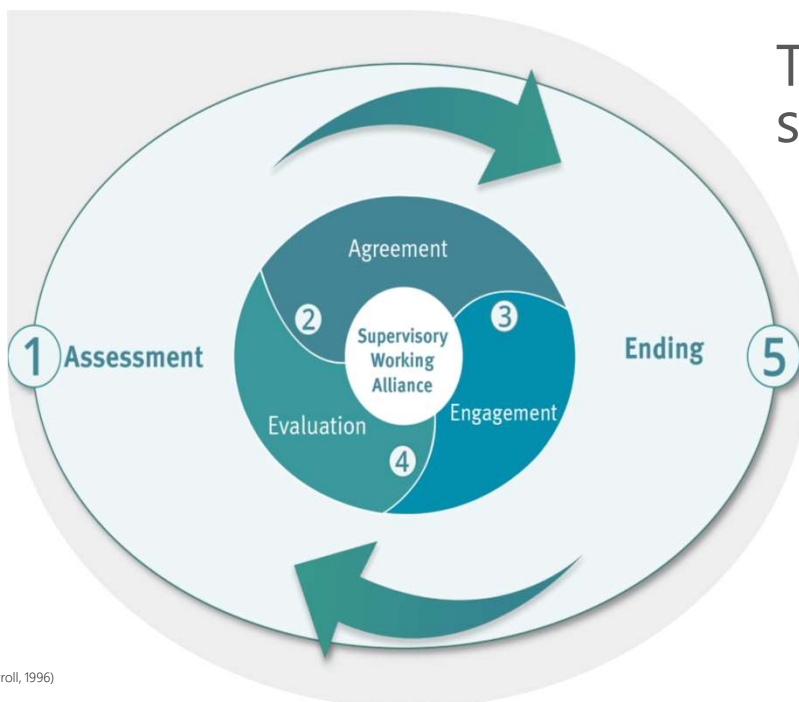

Introductions

QC8 Supervisee

9

9

(Carroll, 1996)

QC8 Supervisee

10

10

The stages of supervision

Today you will learn some processes and tools to help you get the most from each stage of supervision.

Let's review each stage now.

What is your overarching goal for supervision?

 Reflective journal

QC8 Supervisee 11

11

Stage 1: Assessment

Who is your best fit as supervisor and how to choose them?

1 Assessment

2 Agreement

3 Engagement

4 Evaluation

5 Ending

Supervisory Working Alliance

 Reflective journal

(Carroll, 1996)

QC8 Supervisee 12

12

Can your supervisor help in critical ways?

(Proctor, 1987)

Things a supervisor should do:

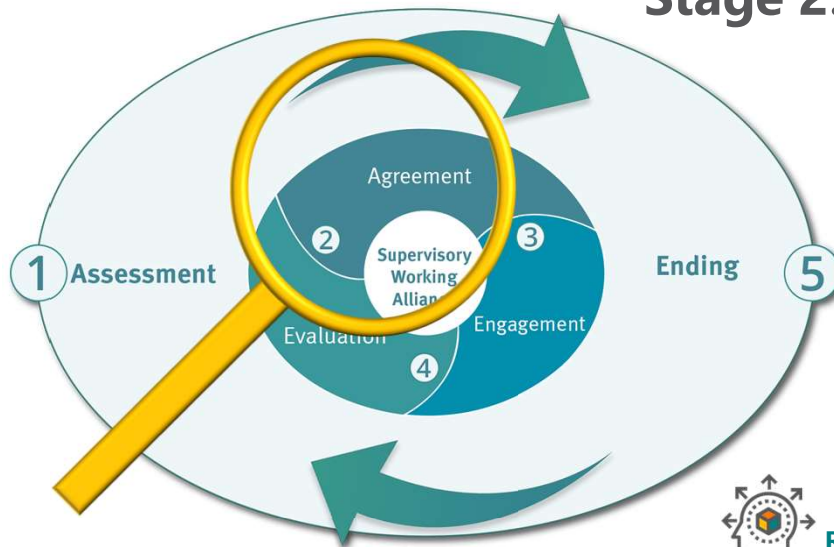

- support agreed goals 100%
- guide, support and re-direct progress toward goals
- support their supervisee to make new discoveries - to learn and grow professionally
- monitor and support supervisee wellbeing when needed.

QC8 Supervisee

13

13

Stage 2: Agreement

What things should you agree on to keep things on track?

Reflective journal

(Carroll, 1996)

QC8 Supervisee

14

14

The heart of supervision is the: Supervisory Working Alliance

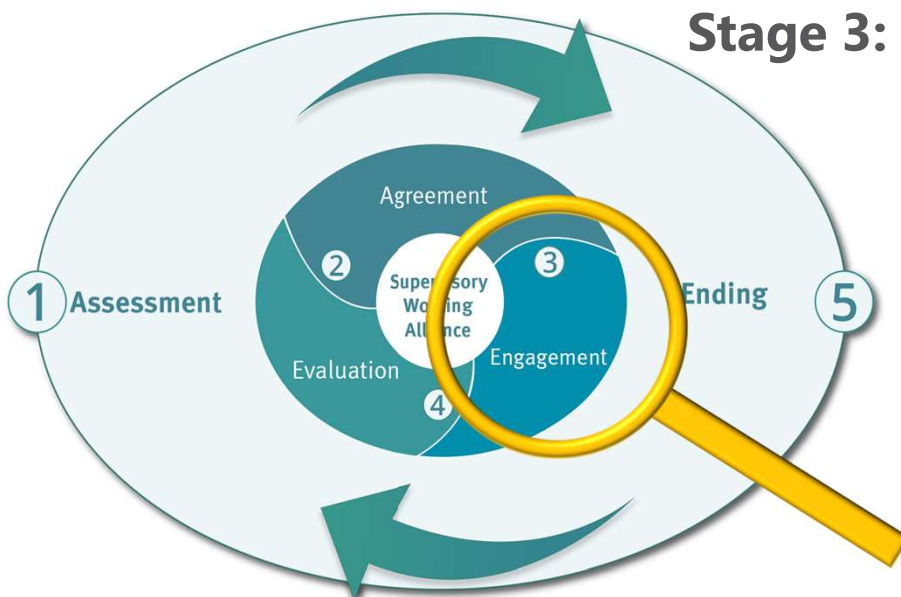

QC8 Supervisee

15

15

Stage 3: Engagement

How do you decide what's important to bring to supervision?

(Carroll, 1996)

QC8 Supervisee

16

16

You might choose to bring work situations:

- ☐ that elicited uncomfortable feelings
- ☐ that celebrates progress and wins
- ☐ you were unsure about what to do
- ☐ you were surprised by what happened.

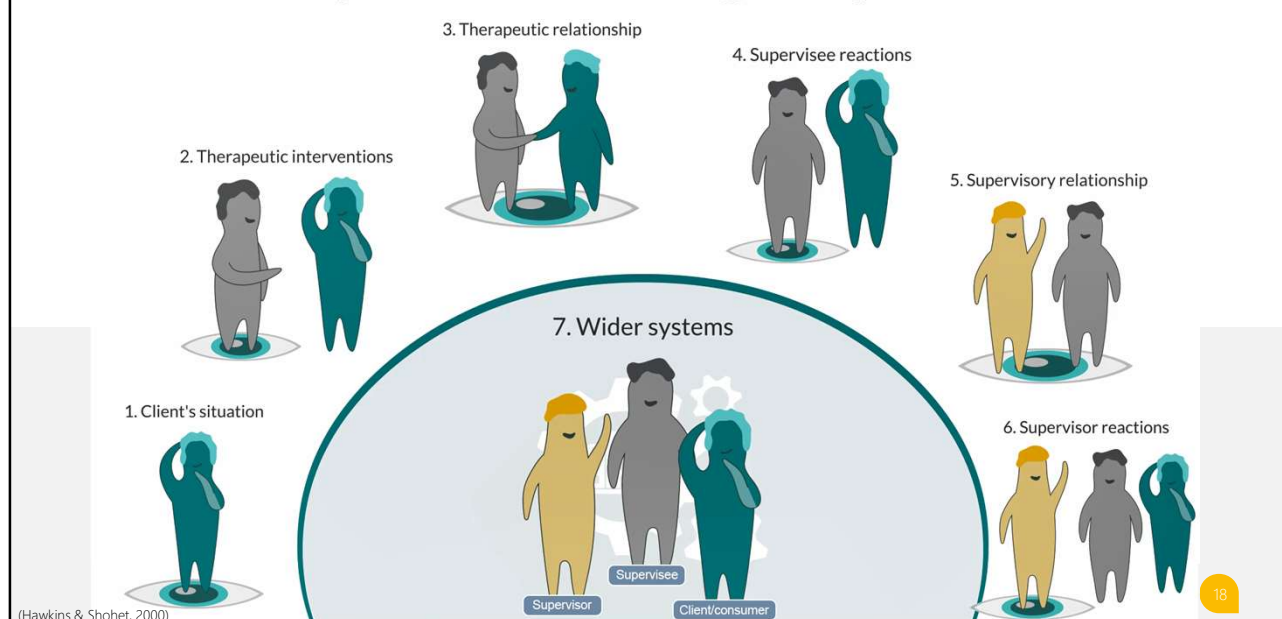

What kinds of situations or issues might these be?

QC8 Supervisee

17

17

Relationship based learning – 7 possible lenses

18

18

Prioritising topics - the 3 functions.

1. Read the scenario on page 10.
2. Decide how the supervisee's issue relates to each of the 3 functions:
 - ☐ supportive/self care (restorative)
 - ☐ educative (formative)
 - ☐ ethics and safety (normative).
3. What topics might this person bring to supervision?

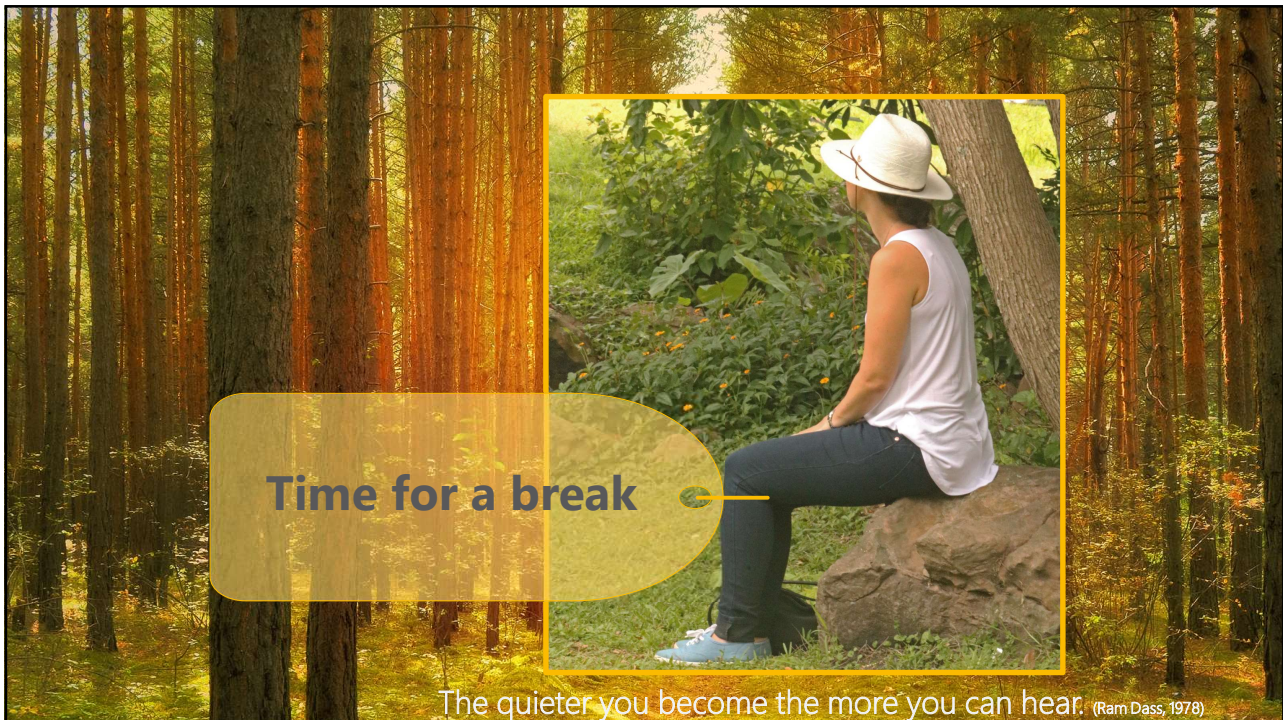

(Proctor, 1987)

Reflective journal

19

19

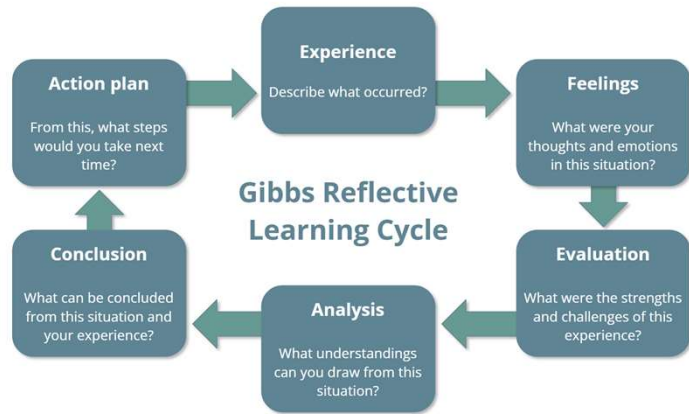

The quieter you become the more you can hear. (Ram Dass, 1978)

20

Self directed learning from experience

- 1 Notice feelings and thoughts about what happened.
- 2 Understand what happened.
- 3 Invite feedback from your supervisor.

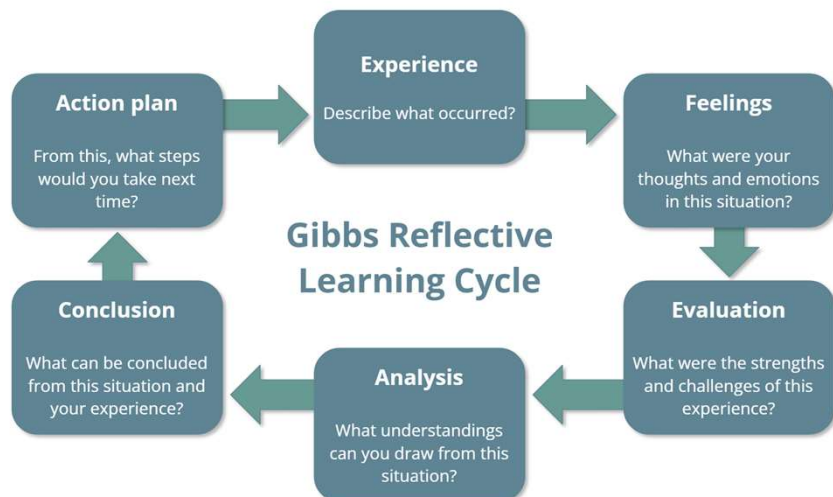

(Gibbs, 1988)

21

21

Practise exercise

(Gibbs, 1988)

Reflective journal

QC8 Supervisee

22

22

Feedback while learning

- ☐ Observational
- ☐ Confirmatory
- ☐ Corrective.

QC8 Supervisee

23

23

Thinking before responding to feedback.

The key to working well with feedback is to have the right mind set.

Prepare to receive feedback:

W - welcome

H - hear

A - ~~accept~~ acknowledge

M - mindfully consider.

(Adapted from Hewson Daphne & Carroll, 2016)

QC8 Supervisee

24

24

When giving feedback, stop and think

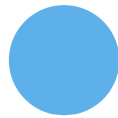

WHAT

What am I saying and why?

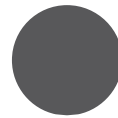

HOW

How is it best to say it?

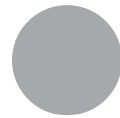

EMOTION

What reactions can I expect?

WHEN

Is it the right moment?

WHERE

Is it the right place?

QC8 Supervisee

25

25

How ready are you to receive feedback?

1

2

3

4

5

Be gentle

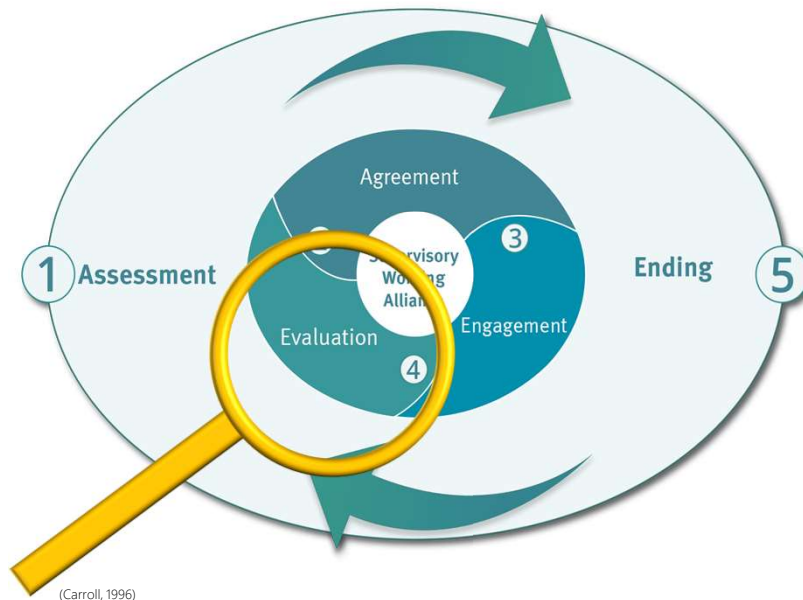

Challenge me

QC8 Supervisee

26

26

Stage 4: Evaluation in supervision

Evaluation has multiple purposes.

What are they?

QC8 Supervisee

27

27

What do we evaluate in supervision?

- ☐ Progress toward goals
- ☐ The working relationship
- ☐ The bond
- ☐ The tasks.

QC8 Supervisee

28

28

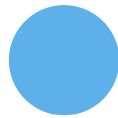

When to evaluate

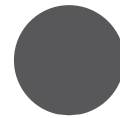

During sessions

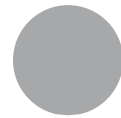

End of each session

End of an agreement

When supervision needs to change

When ending a supervision relationship

QC8 Supervisee

29

29

How to evaluate?

The workshop was not focussed on my needs

(APPROACH)

The workshop was very focused on my needs

My partner and I did not understand each other during the activities

(RELATIONSHIP)

My partner and I did understand each other during the activities

The learning activities in this workshop did not help me learn how to practice supervision.

(MET MY NEEDS)

The learning activities in this workshop did help me learn how to practice supervision.

(adapted from Wainwright, 2010)

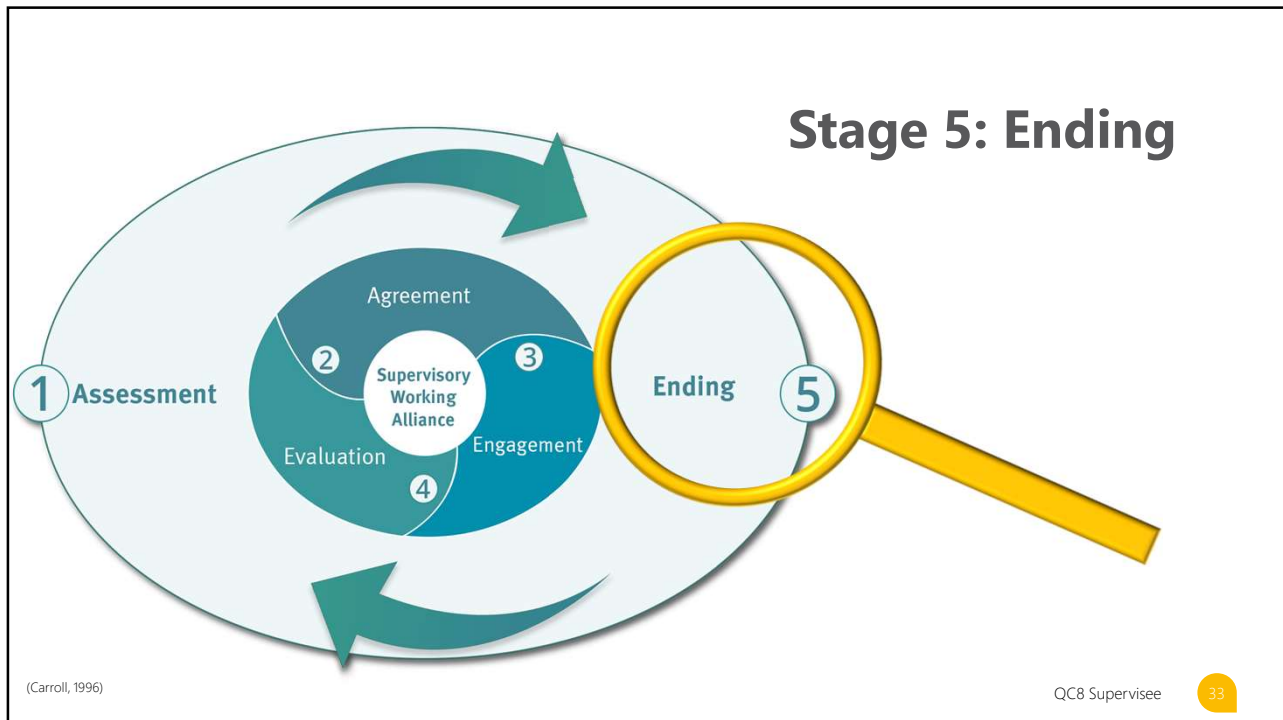

Reflective journal

QC8 Supervisee

30

30

33

Ending the supervision relationship or current agreement

What do you need to learn from 'ending'?

- ☐ Review the agreement. Did I achieve my over-arching goal(s)?
- ☐ How effective were the sessions in supporting me achieve my goal(s)? (discussions/tasks/activities)
- ☐ What is my next goal? Is this the right supervisor to help me achieve my new goal or do I need a new supervisor?
- ☐ What did I like about this working relationship that I will bring to my next SWA?
- ☐ How will I continue to develop my supervision practice?

Reflective journal

QC8 Supervisee

34

34

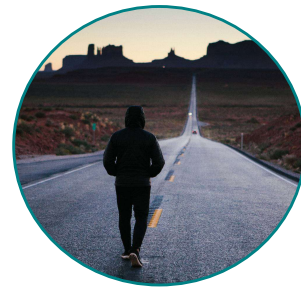

What have you learned?

What do I need to learn next?

1. Are you clearer about how you will do supervision and where to start?
2. What tools will help you most?
3. What will you do next?

Reflective journal

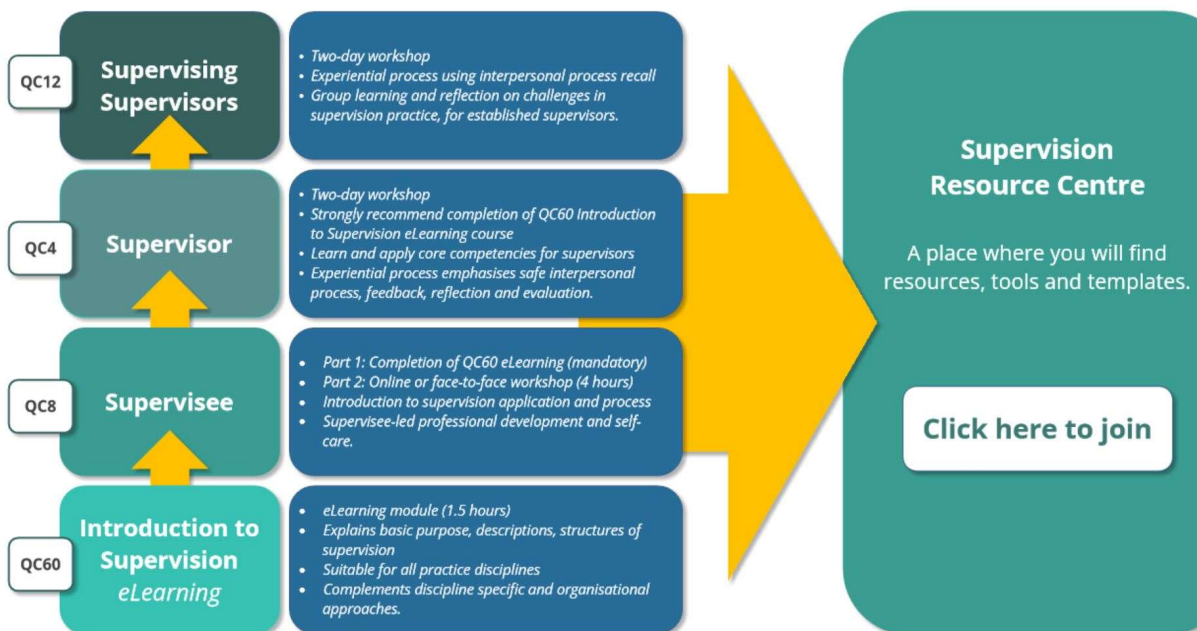

QC8 Supervisee

35

35

Learning Centre Supervision Suite

36

Online evaluation

Queensland Centre for Mental Health Learning

To improve the quality of our courses, the Learning Centre uses online evaluations.

Please ensure that you have signed the attendance sheet OR been checked in by our trainers in order to access your electronic certificate and receive the post evaluation email.

The evaluation process

Step 1

Workshop booking

Sign up - your booking triggers a series of processes.

Step 2

Pre-evaluation

After signing up, an email confirms your booking. This email contains important details and the pre-evaluation link.

Step 3

Post-evaluation

Upon workshop completion, you will receive access to your certificate and the post evaluation link.

37

37

38

Queensland Centre for Mental Health Learning

Locked Bag 500
Archerfield Qld 4108
Phone: 3542 2111
qcmhltraining@health.qld.gov.au
www.qcmhl.qld.edu.au