

Why eLearning?

Video transcript: 02:25mins

Asking for help isn't always easy, and when seeking support, your needs should be taken seriously. When someone presents at a mental health service, it should be reasonable to expect professional, quality care.

Unfortunately, this isn't always the case. It is reported that more than half of those who seek help don't receive the minimum treatment required.

At the Learning Centre, we believe in providing education that improves skills, promotes empathy and minimises stigma.

Our goal is to make quality mental health training available to a wide audience of health professionals throughout their careers. We offer a variety of eLearning courses as a flexible, easy to use, 24/7 method of providing training to staff anytime, anywhere, on any device.

The Learning Centre can also develop eLearning packages tailored to suit the needs of your staff. As a Registered Training Organisation with over 10 years' experience providing online and face-to-face courses across Queensland, you can trust that we can deliver on quality.

Our educators are a team of qualified mental health professionals from allied health and nursing backgrounds, drawing on their years of frontline experience to develop and deliver our courses.

To design your eLearning package, we will work closely with you to create content that is realistic, relatable, and directly transferable to real world situations. We can also provide customised videos and images, interactive quizzes and activities, and certificates accessible to the learner on completion of the course. The Learning Centre also has a platform that can host the training so you don't need to worry about the technical side of things.

To further support your objectives and workforce development, we can supply reports demonstrating how your staff are engaging with the training. This can include course completion data, and the evaluation of outcomes such as changes in staff attitudes, confidence and training satisfaction.

If you are planning to invest in the education of your staff and share our goal of improving outcomes in mental health, we'd love to hear from you.